

In association with:

Enrich Your Soils

A day of discussion on improving the fertility of your soils with an emphasis on organic matter and soil biota

Topics will include –

- What is Soil Organic Matter and soil biota
- The importance of Soil Organic Matter
- The benefits of increasing Soil Organic Matter
- Increasing Soil Organic Matter
 - Using green manures and cover crops
 - By applying organic manures and composts
 - By changing the rotation
 - The challenge of reintroducing livestock to the arable farm
- The application of organic manures
- Minimising the loss of nutrients from organic manures
- Legislation associated with spreading organic manures

Dates

13th January 2014
Newark Showground

21st January 2014
Suffolk Showground

27th January 2014
East of England Showground

3rd February 2014
Norfolk Showground

7th February 2014
Lincolnshire Showground

10th February
East of England Showground

12th February 2014
Lackham College

21st February 2014
Kent Showground

To book your place on this event please visit www.rase.org.uk/events

Farmers £56 + vat
Consultants and other Non-Farmers £216 + vat
£20 discount for full RASE members

For further information please contact Emily Stillwell
02476 858 252 | emilys@rase.org.uk

This workshop has been awarded 10 BASIS points.

This project is supported by the Rural Development Programme for England (RDPE) for which Defra is the Managing Authority, part funded by the European Agricultural Fund for Rural Development: Europe investing in rural areas.